

POWER SUPPLY LED STRIP

Power supply led strip

000 Led Technology Ekaterinburg offers power supply units for reliable and durable operation of the led devices to the mains supply which imposes high requirements stability of the input current. Possible fluctuations in the mains voltage and can bring the lamp down so as during the flow through the led current is greater than the threshold value, the led overheats and soon fails. That is why the key to successful application of led products is high-quality, up power system. The company is Led Technology presents a range of pulse power supply units the world's best manufacturers in the best way combining all the above features affordable price.

Switching power supplies meet the standards UL CUL TUV CB CE. Large selection for output power and output voltage. The power supply is made in a protective enclosure with natural or forced ventilation and are functionally complete device for use in sophisticated led devices. Power supplies have built-in overload protection circuit over voltage overheating. All power units are production tested.

Power supply led strip

Link to article:: POWER SUPPLY LED STRIP